

Appalachian Memory Keepers

Author-in-Residence Application

The Appalachian Memory Keepers Author-in-Residence Program seeks to identify and promote both published and unpublished authors writing about Appalachian history and culture. If chosen, the Author will submit 13 original, unpublished articles (minimum of 200 words each) and at least 1 accompanying photo, for which the Author owns copyright and/or has written permission to use, per article. The Author's work will be featured on a weekly basis on the AMK website and social media. Each Author-in-Residence will be eligible for a $200 stipend for their 13-week residency.

Terms of Agreement: If chosen, the Author-in-Residence agrees to electronically submit 13 original fiction or nonfiction stories to be published weekly during the selected quarter. All 13 original articles and accompanying photos are due before the scheduled debut of the Author's residency. Author must own copyright and/or have written permission for use of any photos submitted; if using any photo(s) with copyright owner's written permission, please supply copy of permission for each photo to AMK. The Author-in-Residence retains copyright of their work, but grants Appalachian Memory Keepers the right without restriction to edit and distribute any submitted articles via the AMK website and social media channels. This contract can be terminated by Appalachian Memory Keepers at any time.

*If any materials, including photos or articles in whole or part, submitted by the Author are in violation of any US copyright legislation, the Author is solely responsible for any resultant financial damages, legal fees, and/or settlement costs.

Submission: Please mail this application, along with 2 original writing samples (min 100 words each) to the following address: Appalachian Memory Keepers, PO Box 34, Jefferson, NC 28640. Materials may also be submitted electronically by emailing to info@appalachianmemorykeepers.org.

Selection Process: All applications are evaluated by the AMK Board of Directors. All applicants will be notified by mail or email of whether they are chosen as an Author-in-Residence or not.
